
Harassment and Discrimination Prevention

Businesses must meet the legal requirement of taking "all reasonable steps to prevent sexual harassment from occurring" by ensuring that each and every employee within the company is aware of their responsibilities for preventing harassment, discrimination and retaliation in the workplace.

Act now to implement a training program for your staff that is both cost-effective and convenient. Training handouts are included.

To learn more on how HR Allen Consulting Services can help your business, contact us at www.hrallencs.com